Description

When we established Sehlhorst Equipment Services in 1985 we had one guiding principle... The best interests of the client will always guide our actions. This simple guiding principle has been the foundation of our mission. In those days we did not have an elaborate business plan or experience on how to run a business. What we did have, however, was a strong desire to do whatever it took to fulfill the needs of our clients. As our clients grew and prospered, their needs became larger and more complex. SES continued to strive to meet those needs. We added more equipment to our fleet, hired more skilled employees, and invested in technology to help the business run more efficiently.

Years following this inexact process has helped SES evolve into what it is today... a versatile, full-service, site-development contractor. Our range of experience compares with companies twice our age and our commitment to quality is second to none.

Finally, and most importantly, SES has developed a deep appreciation of how intertwined our own success is with that of our clientele. We will do whatever it takes to help your project from beginning to end.
