Description

Manchester University is a liberal arts university with a primary campus located in North Manchester, Indiana, and a second campus in Fort Wayne, Indiana, home to the University's Pharmacy and Pharmacogenomics programs.

First, a few basics. Manchester University offers more than 60 areas of undergraduate study, two master's programs (athletic training and pharmacogenomics) and a professional doctorate in pharmacy to nearly 1,600 students from 28 states and 20 countries. The independent, liberal arts school is located in North Manchester, Ind., where 73 percent of the students live on the 120-acre campus. Our four-year Doctor of Pharmacy program is on a Fort Wayne, Ind., campus. Manchester has deep roots in the Church of the Brethren; about 6 percent of the students are members of the denomination.

College guides love Manchester. Year after year, Manchester receives acclaim from popular guides for college-bound students for its exceptional academic program. The 2016 America's Best Colleges guide of U.S. News & World Report ranks Manchester University sixth in the Midwest in its "Great Schools, Great Prices" ranking. MU has received the "Best College" ranking for 23 consecutive years. The Princeton Review college guide also consistently ranks Manchester as a "Best in the Midwest." Read more

Diversity at Manchester

Manchester University welcomes diversity in its various forms and definitions. The University's Values Statement lists diversity as a core value "... because understanding differences develops respect for ethnic, cultural, and religious pluralism; an international consciousness; and an appreciation for the infinite worth of every person."

Manchester University demonstrates this commitment to diversity through:

- The aggressive recruitment of a diverse student body
- Strong retention efforts for students of color and international students
- Concerted and intentional efforts to diversify faculty and staff
- Diversity training for all employees conducted through Human Resources and the Office of Multicultural Affairs
- Diversity across the curriculum through Academic and Student Affairs
- An Intercultural Center that serves as a resource center for the different cultural groups on campus
