Description

Where are the thinkers who will challenge the ordinary and redefine the fields of engineering, technology, management and aviation? They're right here at Vaughn College of Aeronautics and Technology. Located close to exciting New York City and adjacent to LaGuardia Airport, Vaughn is a small, accredited degree-granting college—with a big commitment to student success.

We recently added a $1 million, state-of-the-art flight simulator laboratory, invested another $300,000 in a new engineering laboratory and residence hall and are in the midst of a $20 million expansion of our academic and training facilities that will include a new library. The result: a state-of-the-art campus—with sweeping views of Manhattan—where you'll find a culture of excellence and rigorous degree, professional, technical and certification programs.
